

Security Arrangements Clause in the Revitalised South Sudan Peace Agreement

Agreement on the Unification of the Supreme Command of the Forces

On the basis of the historical and fraternal relationships between the Republic of South Sudan and the Republic of the Sudan,

And arising out of the persistent efforts exerted by the Republic of the Sudan Supreme Command to achieve security and stability in the two brotherly countries in particular and all of the countries of the region.

The Sudanese mediation was headed by Lieutenant General Mohamed Hamdan Dagalo, Vice President of the interim Sovereignty Council, in many intense meetings with the parties concerned in the implementation of the Security Arrangements clause of the revitalised South Sudan Peace Agreement which aimed to arrive at a unified wording to unify the forces' Supreme Command,

The parties agreed, in culmination of the tireless and sincere efforts of the Government of Sudan and the leadership of South Sudan, upon the following:

1. The proposal to unify the Supreme Command of the Forces (attached).
2. A matrix to chart the course of the next stage of security arrangements (attached).
